

WISSAHICKON HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING UNIT

The Wissahickon Marching Unit, from Ambler in Montgomery County, is proud to participate in Upper Merion's Cavalcade of Bands this evening. The Marching Unit is but a segment of the Wissahickon High School instrumental music department which includes concert bands, wind ensemble, jazz band and other small ensembles. The Marching Unit is a voluntary organization and has been constantly expanding in size and quality over the past several years with this year's unit fielding 180 members. New uniforms will be added during this competitive season.

The show has been designed around a total entertainment concept including music and visuals of all types and styles. Repertoire includes Tchaikovsky's Meadowlands off the line; an arrangement of the Manilow hit song Copacabana; Echano by Chuck Mangione; the rock hit of the past, Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood; and as an exit, the traditional Danny Boy.

Our Drum Majors for this year are Karen Wilde and Steve Rhindress.

This year's school staff includes Earl Paine, Director; Glenda Hunter and John Knebl, Band Moderators.

This year's drill was designed by Charles Pack.

The Wissahickon Marching Unit would like to take this opportunity to wish all competing units the best of luck.
