

PLYMOUTH WHITEMARSH MARCHING COLONIALS

This year's show is a celebration commemorating the 50th Anniversary of World War II. The show starts with a traditional military march, "National Emblem" written by E.E. Balley. The it's off the U.S.O. Show with a medley of tunes including "In The Mood", "American Patrol" and "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy". The show concludes with a patriotic closer based on Carmen Dragon's arrangement of "America". The Plymouth-Whitemarsh Marching Colonials salute all veterans of WWII during this 50th Year Anniversary.
